The dearest Dr. Taavoni and Dr. Kronhaus,

With great dismay and mixed feelings, I write this letter to inform you that I will be resigning from my position as a primary care NP with Doctors Making House Calls (DMHC), effective July 14, 2016. I have accepted a faculty position at the University of San Francisco that offers full tuition remission for all of my dependents for both undergraduate and graduate education starting this fall. Because my oldest son will join college this fall and my youngest son will follow him next fall, I accepted the offer and will be relocating to California in August.

Honestly, I have greatly enjoyed every single moment of working at DMHC. It has been both a rewarding and memorable experience. I have always tried my very best to give my patients 100% of my knowledge, attention, care, and compassion to help them feel better.

In this career, I have also learned much about myself. I realized that I made a great choice when I became an adult gerontology primary care nurse practitioner, and an even a much better choice when I accepted the NP position at this top institution/DMHC.

I look forward to the opportunities that await me, both professionally and personally; however, I will truly miss all of you and the amazing colleagues (MDs, NPs, PAs, and Staff) I have been fortunate to know here at DMHC. I am honored to have received the opportunity to grow and learn amid such talent and brilliance.

I appreciate the support all of you have offered me over the past two years and the encouragement you give me during this time of transition. I know that the experience I have gained during my tenure at DMHC will serve me very well as I progress in my career. I wish you and all my colleagues the best of success and hope that we will remain in touch.

Best regards,

Yours respectfully,

Mahmoud Kaddoura
